The buccaneers stormed ashore in droves at the Bay St. Louis Municipal Harbor on Friday, "taking over" the city's Old Town district for the Mystic Krewe of the Seahorse's fifth annual Pirate Day in the Bay celebration.

"Everything has been just perfect," Donald Rafferty -- one of the krewe's founding members -- said Saturday. "The weather's beautiful and everybody's having a good time."

This year's Pirate Day parade was led by Queen Kay Kell and King Henry Winters.

The event actually kicked off Thursday, with a dinner hosted by the king and queen. The pirates symbolically "invaded" Old Town

Bay St. Louis on Friday and "kidnapped" Rafferty, who was standing in as "The Mayor."

Festivities for the event included a "Lil' Buccaneers" parade for chil-

A Waveland business owner has filed a lawsuit against the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce alleging racial discrimination.

Constance E. St. Julien-Mims -- owner of the Unique Transitions Training Center that is sometimes referred to as the "barber college" -- filed the action in Hancock County Circuit Court last week.

According to the suit, Mims states that "on or about June 2018, she and her business were subjected and continue to be subjected to acts of racial discrimination by Tish Williams, who was acting as representative of the Hancock Chamber of Commerce."

Mims alleges that even though the Chamber is funded by cities and the county to network and promote business development, "Unique Transitions Training Center was denied the same opportunities as other white-owned businesses within Hancock County."

The suit alleges that when Mims asked to sponsor a Chamber Business After Hours event, she was told by Williams that "it would be too costly for her and that those events are usually re-booked by the sponsors each year. ... (Mims) asked if there were any months available and was told June and July were open, but she would have to renew her enrollment with the Chamber."

Mims said she replied that paying the renewal fee would not be a problem, but Williams told her, "Well, you have to purchase food and cover the cost of alcohol. I think you should hold your own event and pay the Chamber $200 to post it on our website. But I don't know who will come."

Mims "feels that she and her business have been treated unfairly by the Hancock Chamber of Commerce due to the color of her skin and her gender," according to the suit. She further alleges "she has not been given equal opportunity to promote her business by the Hancock County Chamber" and that the "Business After Hours

WCA hosts annual fishing rodeo

BY CASSANDRA FAVRE
STAFF WRITER

The Waveland Civic Association on Saturday hosted its 10th annual Special Needs Kids' Fishing Rodeo at the Garfield Ladner Pier in Waveland.

"There's a lot of special needs kids that don't get to do things like this," former WCA president Jay Lagasse said. "It's something we met on one night and thought about doing."

The WCA provides each child with a rod, reel, bait, hook, sinkers, and a T-shirt, Lagasse said.

After a morning of fishing, participants were also treated to hamburgers, hot dogs, and snoballs. The members also made cupcakes, Lagasse said.

Lagasse said the organization works with the schools to reach out to students with special needs.

This year, more than 107 students, ages K-12, signed up for the fishing rodeo, he said.

Lagasse said there are several local people and organizations that donate to the event including, Joey Boudin, the Silver Slipper Casino, Coca-Cola, and an American Legion in New Orleans.

Representatives from the Department of Marine Resources also speak with the students and hands out souvenirs, Lagasse said.

"I think it's great for the kids, and it's just for those with special needs," he said.

The WCA also organizes the St. Patrick's Day parade, the Easter Egg hunt, Trunk or Treat,

The WCA is open to male members ages 21 and older. Lagasse said interested parties must be sponsored by two members.

Memorial Day and summer travel safety

SEA COAST ECHO
Cookouts, parades and local fairs are just a few ways that many will choose to celebrate Memorial Day. The Mississippi Department of Transportation's (MDOT) top priority is to keep motorists safe and informed while providing efficient roadways for summer travel.
"Mississippi has a lot to offer and MDOT hopes many will take advantage of their Memorial Day weekend by exploring new places or returning to favorite scenic routes, all the while making wise choices," said Melinda McGrath, P.E., MDOT Executive Director.
Memorial Day marks the beginning of summer travel season for many people. According to AAA, more than 43 million Americans will travel this Memorial Day weekend, up nearly four percent from last year. With more vehicles on the road, it is important to be patient and drive smart.
According to the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration (NHTSA), 94 percent of crashes are caused by human error. One of the most important safety steps drivers can take is simply slowing down and paying attention.

In 2017, there were 690 traffic fatalities in Mississippi. Speed was a factor in nine percent of traffic fatalities, and alcohol was a factor in 21 percent. Distraction was cited in over half of all fatal crashes involving teens. Half of the people killed in crashes last year were not wearing their seat belt.
To ensure everyone arrives safely at their destinations, motorist should:
Obey all speed limits and signs, especially through work zones.
Always wear a seatbelt.
Never get behind the wheel under the influence of alcohol or drugs.
Use your cell phone for emergency situations only.
MDOT offers free resources to help the traveling public know about current road conditions. MDOTtraffic.com and the MDOT traffic mobile app help travelers plan their next road trip. The resources share constant updates on Mississippi roadways and also show the locations of rest areas and welcome centers throughout the state.
MDOT also has information for drivers to take action and do their part to help reduce the number of fatal crashes in the state. The website www.GoMDOT.com/DriveSmartMS includes videos that teach drivers how to navigate work zones and intersections, drive in severe weather and use highways safely.

Beginning Saturday, May 25, and ending Tuesday, May 28, MDOT will not issue any permits for oversize and overweight vehicles on all state and federal highways for Memorial Day weekend.
"Our top priority is the safety of traveling public, especially during the upcoming holiday weekend," McGrath said. "Prohibiting oversize loads during the holiday is one more way MDOT is working to increase the safety and efficiency of Mississippi's highways for motorists."
For real-time highway updates and more summer travel safety information, like and follow @MississippiDOT on Facebook and Twitter, visit MDOTtraffic.com or download the MDOT Traffic mobile app.
The Mississippi Department of Transportation (MDOT) is responsible for providing a safe intermodal transportation network that is planned, designed, constructed and maintained in an effective, cost-efficient and environmentally sensitive manner. MDOT's objective is to maximize taxpayer's dollars by providing a safe, efficient multimodal network that enhances economic stability and growth. For more information, visit GoMDOT.com.

Reeling in life's lessons

Since I grew up in Bay St. Louis, I'm no stranger to fishing, shrimping, and crabbing.

I spent many days during my early years on the seawall at the end of Chartres Street with a rod or shrimp net in my hands.

My grandparents lived on Chartres Street and during the wee hours of the morning, when it was still dark out, my parents, grandparents, aunts, uncles, and cousins would meet at the end of the street to hopefully catch some seafood.

Fun fact: I always wore a pair of thin-soled flip-flops during these adventures and almost always stepped on a piece of glass. PSA: Please do not throw your trash on our seawalls and beaches, or anywhere for that matter.

On Saturday, I covered the Waveland Civic Association's Special Needs Kids Fishing Rodeo.

It turned out to be a beautiful day to be on the Garfield Ladner Pier.

I must admit, it's been a long time since I've been on a pier and even longer since I've been fishing.

I miss those days, the excitement of reeling in a catch.

One time, I hooked a little eel, and of course, I was terrified to tackle it. So my brave Maw Maw took control, freed the eel, and put it back in the water.

Considering she raised 14 children, I'm sure freeing that eel was a piece of cake for her.

But I digress, as usual.

The wind was blowing just enough on Saturday to chase away humidity and make for some pretty waves on the beach.

I met several fishing rodeo participants and all seemed happy to be there.

Some were anxious about catching a fish, but I explained that it does take some patience.

One girl caught a fish and her excitement was contagious. I took a picture of her proudly smiling while displaying her catch.

It seems everything makes me feel nostalgic these days.

But on Saturday, I was nostalgic for the good old days spent at the end of Chartres Street. The memories will never die.

I'm thankful that the members of the Waveland Civic Association host this event each year for the kids.

It's a learning experience and a great way to make some new friends.

We talked about learning patience, but the kids can also learn how to do something for themselves. And if

The prison system

Guest Opinion
by Wyatt Emmerich
Publisher of Northside Sun

The federal Department of Justice (DOJ) just released a scathing report on Alabama's prisons. The same could be said of Mississippi's prisons.

The Alabama governor and legislature are taking rapid action to deal with their prison crisis to avoid a federal takeover. An additional $86 million was appropriated to retain new staffing for medical and mental health services and to reduce the turnover rate of correctional staffing with pay raises.

In a statement earlier this year Alabama Gov. Kay Ivey said, "We must improve the conditions in which we house inmates. 'Deplorable', 'horrendous', and 'inadequate' are words which have been used to describe them. Our existing facilities need $750 million in maintenance alone.

Alabama must have new prison facilities because we must have better conditions, we must have better safety, and we must have better programs.

"The Department of Corrections hired a project management team that recommended we build three new regional men's prisons. Of the three new facilities, one will have additional space centralizing services for special needs populations: the aged, the infirm and those with mental health conditions. Additionally, there will be space in each new facility for educational and vocational training programs."

News stories on this year's Alabama legislative session rated prison conditions as the number one issue to be addressed.

Meanwhile, here in Mississippi, prison conditions didn't even make the bottom of the list in legislative priorities.

A big factor explaining this discrepancy involves two federal judges: Alabama district judge Myron Thompson and Mississippi district judge William Barbour.

Both judges heard similar lawsuits filed by the activist groups accusing their respective states of violating the U.S. Constitution's ban of cruel and unusual punishment.

Thompson quickly issued a 66-page opinion shortly after the end of testimony calling Alabama's prison system's mental health care "horrendously inadequate." Thompson ruled that the failure to diagnose and treat mental illness violated the Eighth Amendment prohibition on cruel and unusual punishment.

Thompson was galvanized to action by the suicide of a mentally ill young male prisoner shortly after he testified about horrific conditions.

After Thomson's decision the Alabama Corrections Commissioner Jeff Dunn has asked lawmakers for money to hire 500 new

Allergic Reactions to Insect Stings

Conservation Corner
by James L. Cummins

Allergic reactions to insect stings are a common and often serious medical problem. Insects that sting are divided into two major subgroups: the group consisting of the yellow jacket, hornet and wasp; and the one made up of the more docile honeybee and bumblebee. The fire ant is a non-winged member of the first group and is responsible for an increasing number of allergic reactions.

According to the late Dr. William M. McKell, "Reactions to stings are divided into two major categories, local and systemic. The usual and expected reaction is one of localized pain, swelling and redness at the site."

"The first step in management is to remove any retained stinger. Bees have a multi-barbed stinger which, along with the venom gland, remains attached to the victim. This needs to be scraped away from the skin with a sharp object such as a fingernail or knife blade (do not grasp the stinger for this may inject additional venom). Essentially no treatment is required for this self-limited reaction other than possibly cold compresses and over the counter pain medication. Some advocate the application of moist tobacco or meat tenderizer (papain), and they may well be of benefit, however, I have never seen data supporting or refuting their use,"

A large local reaction, such as swelling of the entire arm secondary to a sting on the hand, consists of more discomfort and prolonged swelling. These may well last a week. According to McKell, management here usually consists of over the counter pain medication and antihistamines; if the swelling is extensive and disabling, oral cortisone-type drugs may be of benefit.

McKell states that it is unknown why such reactions occur, but in persons that develop them, they are more likely to have such reactions in the future.

"A severe and sometimes fatal systemic reaction is called anaphylaxis. It will usually begin within 20 to 30 minutes of the sting and consist of generalized hives and swelling, difficulty breathing and/or circulatory collapse and shock. This is a true medical emergency resulting in 40 to 150 deaths per year in the United States, requiring immediate professional attention," states McKell.

The fire ant will bite anything that invades his bed, hold on with his jaws and rotate his body, inflicting multiple stings, typically in a circular pattern. "These appear infected, but are not. I include this only to discourage the routine use of antibiotics for such a sting," concluded McKell.

Individuals who have had a systemic reaction should consider evaluation by an allergist. Adults who have experienced this have a 30 to 60 percent risk of having another systemic reaction if stung again.

The St. Clare Seafood Festival in Waveland will kick off Memorial Day Weekend on the Coast with a three-day celebration beginning Friday with a "Tribute to the Military."

This year, the parish is celebrating its 100th anniversary.

Organizers say the Seafood Festival is St. Clare Catholic Church's biggest fundraiser of the year. It draws thousands to Waveland every year to enjoy concerts, carnival rides, crafts booths and -- of course -- delicious seafood dishes.

St. Clare Seafood Festival begins this Friday at 5 p.m., starting with the Tribute to the Military, and former U.S. Rep. Gene Taylor will be on hand to raise the flag.

Elvis impersonator Nick Perkins will perform from 5:15-7 p.m., followed by the Dave Mayle Band from 7:30-10 p.m.

they catch something, they will know that one can be rewarded if you put in the work and have some patience.

There were plenty of fishing trips where I didn't catch any fish or we caught few shrimp.

But that doesn't lessen the experiences or lessons I learned during those outings.

I hope the kids had a great time at the fishing rodeo and I'm glad there are people in our community who care about our children and teaching them the important things in life.

correctional officers and give correctional staff a 20 percent raise to help with recruitment and retention.

An almost identical lawsuit was filed by the American Civil Liberties Union (ACLU) and the Southern Poverty Law (SLP) Center and against the Mississippi Department of Corrections and its East Mississippi Correctional Facility.

The case was heard by Judge Barbour in the Jackson federal courthouse. I sat through much of the trial and was appalled by the atrocities: rats, blackout, drugs, rapes, gangs and the like. Basically, the Gangster Disciples and the Vice Lords were running the place, which was filled with mentally ill prisoners in desperate need of medication.

I was shocked that not a single state leader bothered to attend, even though the trial represented a once-in-a-lifetime chance to see inside the belly of the prison beast — $400 million taxpayer funded beast at that.

It was clear during the trial that 78-year-old Barbour, a Yazoo City native and cousin of our former governor, had little appetite for wrestling the beast. And who could blame him?

As a result, Barbour is kicking the can down the road. Last summer, five months after the trial ended, Barbour issued a stay requesting more information about whether conditions have improved. I'll bet a thousand bucks the answer is no.

Barbour's delays saved

this year's legislative session from a prison funding crisis like the one Alabama is experiencing, allowing the legislature to raise state public employee salaries three percent and give teacher's a $1,500 pay raise.

But it's a temporary delay. The SLP and ACLU will eventually lose patience and threaten Barbour with an appeal to a higher court, which would be embarrassing to him. The law and the facts are overwhelmingly on the plaintiffs' side.

This will pose a real political problem for our current Republican leadership which has vowed to cut spending, not raise it. They won't spend enough to maintain roads for law abiding citizens. Drug addicts, crazy people and crooks don't even register on the radar.

That being said, our state's leaders must obey the U.S. Constitution. It will be humiliating to have to cede control of our state prisons to the feds because they failed to do their duty as elected officials.

In many ways, it's like Jackson's billion-dollar sewer problem. In that case, both the city and the federal EPA agree Jackson is sending untreated sewage to the Pearl, but nobody, not even the feds, has the money to fix it, so it just becomes an endless game of rope-a-dope and finger pointing.

In the middle of all this, the U.S. Department of Justice (DOJ) has released a scathing indictment of Alabama's prison system just in case anybody doubted how bad it is. Mississippi's prison system isn't any better.

The 55-page DOJ describes houses of horrors: stabbings, rapes, drugs, gangs, weapons, broken locks, inadequate security, extortion, open sewage, rats, maggots, toxic fumes, lack of medical care. Google "Investigation of Alabama's State Prisons for Men" for the full report. It's shocking.

The report orders the Alabama Department of Corrections (ADOC) to implement dozens of costly remedial measures: new cameras, new security systems, 500 more guards, segregation of non-violent offenders, outside consultants, warden assessments, centralized autopsies, new screening procedures, new contraband prevention policies, new disciplinary procedures to protect prisoners seeking safety from gang violence, repaired toilets, competitive staffing salaries, prisoner drug testing and more. The cost will be hundreds of millions.

My newspaper colleague Russell Turner, editor of the Greene County Herald, tells me the situation is very bad at the South Mississippi Correctional Institution (SMCI) in Leakesville.

Turner emailed, "Believe it or not, 36-hour shifts are not unheard of. Even the superintendent and two wardens said the gangs are in control. It is a crisis that nobody seems to care about. Everyone inside that facility, employees and inmates, are in real danger and the conditions are worse than you can imagine." House Speaker Phillip Gunn and Lt. Gov. Tate Reeves have toured the facility. They are aware of the crisis. It's just not a priority.

The feds gave the ADOC 56 days to respond before they file a lawsuit. You can bet federal action against the Mississippi Department of Corrections is not far behind.

GREGORY GAINES "PAMPS" KERGOSENI

Gregory Gaines "Pamps" Kergosien, 91, of Bay St. Louis, MS passed away Wednesday, May 15, 2019 in Bay St. Louis, MS.

He was born in Bay St. Louis, MS on January 23, 1928. He was a graduate of St. Stanislaus in May, 1944 and the University of Mississippi in November 1949. In May 1945, at the age of 17, he volunteered for service in the Navy Hospital Corps and served for 19 months at the U.S. Navy Hospital, Oakland, CA as ward corpsman, oxygen technician and central supply technician.

Upon discharge he returned to Ole Miss in 1947 and completed his degree in 1949. Following graduation he was employed by the Upjohn Company as their pharmaceutical detail representative in middle-Tennessee. Subsequently, his assignments for Upjohn included territories in Tennessee, Louisiana and Florida. It was in Tennessee that he met and married his wife, Marian Whitaker.

Shortly after their marriage, he was called to active duty by the Army reserve, in which he had earned a commission while at Ole Miss. His active duty assignment was as a member of the Combat Training Command-The Infantry School, Fort Benning, GA. His personal assignment was as an officer in the Medical Company, 30th. Regimental Combat Team, which provided personnel for training and field demonstrations for the Advanced Officers Training Program. He served in that assignment for 19 months, and was discharged from active duty in December, 1952, as Commanding Officer, Medical Company, 30th RCT.

Upon reverting to civilian status he returned to his Upjohn assignment in Tennessee, then to Louisiana and to Florida. He became District Manager, Pharmaceutical Sales in Florida. Later, when assigned as Regional Marketing Manager, Non-prescription Products for the Southern Region., they moved to Dunwoody, GA, which was their primary home until their retirement. In 1968 he was assigned as Regional Manager, Government Affairs. In 1983 he was a recipient of the W.E. Upjohn Award, which was awarded annually in recognition of special accomplishment by employees worldwide. Soon after his retirement in 1985 he and Marian bought the Kergosien home in Bay St. Louis which had been owned by his grandfather, Dr. A.A. Kergosien in 1911. It has been occupied by Kergosien families since that date and is the house where Pamps was born. When Hurricane Katrina approached Bay St. Louis both Marian and Pamps decided that the house had survived every hurricane since before 1900, so with a stock of usual hurricane provisions they remained in the house. They survived with no life threatening occurrences; however a massive oak tree was blown over piercing the east roof for a length of over 50 feet. Although there was extensive wind damage to the east roof they, like many others, continued to occupy their home during the immediate recovery phase. During the years following retirement he and Marian were active members of the Hancock County Historical Society, assisting in the restoration of the Loblano house. They were daily attendants at the Ruth Thompson Cakery Morning Coffee Bunch. They were members of the Bay-Waveland Yacht Club, including serving as a member of the Board of Governors. He was a member of American Legion Post 139 in Bay St. Louis, MS. They were members of St. Rose de Lima Catholic Church.

Pamps was preceded in death by his wife of 61 years, Marian Whitaker Kergosien; parents, Horace Kergosien and Mathilde Gaines Kergosien; brother, Phil Kergosien; two sisters, Helene Kergosien Vernon and Karen Kergosien Treutel; grandson, Charlie Fehr and 2 great granddaughters, Presley Christiansen and Elin Christiansen.

Kergosien, Jr. (Paulette) of Gulfport, MS; sister, Peggy Kergosien Rowley (John) of St. Petersburg, FL; 7 grandchildren and 9 great-grandchildren and numerous nieces, nephews and cousins.

SSC lands two on MAC All-State baseball team

BY JOSEPH W. GEX, II
STAFF WRITER

The St. Stanislaus Rock-a-chaws enjoyed an outstanding season that lasted through the third round of the Class 4A state playoffs on the baseball diamond. For that long run, the Rocks have been rewarded with two spots on the 2019 Mississippi Association of Coaches Class 4A All-State team.

Senior right fielder Trace Rhodes was selected to the first team while junior catcher Braxton Bean was named to the second team.

Rhodes has been a three-year starter for the Rocks in the outfield and has helped lead the team to the state playoffs each year.

In 2019, Rhodes batted .396 with five doubles, three triples and 22 RBIs. He was virtually unstoppable on the base paths with 28 stolen bases and scored 44 runs.

SSC head coach Mark Logan commented on Rhodes, "Trace Rhodes had an outstanding year both offensively and defensively. He was a team leader and consistently came through for us when we needed him to."

Bean was the defensive captain of the team calling all the shots behind the plate. During the year, he good a year as anyone this year. He was a leader on and off the field. He was clutch for us this year and came through for us game after game."

The duo helped lead the Rocks to a 25-9 mark which is the third most wins in a single season in school history and the Division 8-4A title.

Area places members on All-Division softball teams

BY JOSEPH W. GEX, II
STAFF WRITER

Bay High School and Hancock High School each placed three players on their respective All-Division softball teams.

The Lady Tigers put P Lizzie Weems, C Ahmia Khadaroo, and SS Annlyssa Richardson on the Division 8-4A team.

During the season, Weems led the team with a .423 average with 11 doubles, one triple and 17 RBIs. She stole two bases and scored 13 runs. On the mound, Weems put up an ERA of 3.37 with 170 strikeouts.

Khadaroo batted at a clip of .344 with 22 RBIs with three doubles, one triple and a homerun. She stole five bases and scored 17 runs.

Richardson hit .374 with nine doubles, two triples, one homerun and 25 RBIs. She stole nine bases and score 20 runs.

The Lady Tigers ended their season with a 16-14 record and advanced to the second round of the Class 4A state playoffs.

The Lady Hawks placed C Jenah Necaise, CF Haley Kelly and 2B Chasady Brown on the Division 8-6A team.

Necaise batted .382 with 12 RBIs and had a fielding percentage of .912 with 38 assists and 45 put outs.

Kelly hit for .302 with five RBIs and nine stolen bases. She had a .710 fielding percentage with 21 put outs.

Brown batted .205 with two RBIs and had a fielding percentage of .912 with 45 put outs.

The Lady Hawks advanced to the first round of the Class 6A state softball playoffs.

The paper made attempts to reach OLA and Pass Christian to determine which players earned All-Division honors; however, at press time names of honorees had not been provided.

Rocks end spring with more depth in key areas

BY JOSEPH W. GEX, II
STAFF WRITER

The St. Stanislaus Rock-a-chaws ended their spring football drills with a Red/White intersquad scrimmage on Friday afternoon at the Brother Philip Memorial Athletic Complex.

The Rocks spent the majority of their spring drills trying to build depth within their ranks on both sides of the football.

The approach they are taking now is getting their best 11 on the field. And, the coaches have liked what they have seen.

SSC head coach Nate Encrapera commented, "In the game today, we saw several high points. The veterans got better at base fundamentals and leadership with the younger players. The younger players made the big jump from middle school to varsity level competition which is a vast learning curve for them. On defense, there are more veterans on that side of the ball for us. Our pursuit through spring was solid. We had good leverage and tackled well. We forced some turnovers today. On offense, we tossed three touchdown passes. We need to be more a consistent throwing the football. Our ability to take the top off of coverage is imperative. We had some production on third-and-long situations and in the red zone. That is an area that we need to clean up."

Encrapera made sure to notice that returning quarterback Max Favre made some very nice throws while Alex Fabra did some good things with his legs. Dallas Payne, Bradley Darby and Taylor Lafontaine all made some big catches in spring drills.

While two starters did not suit up in the scrimmage, Brandon Bordelon and Lee Negrotto, Encrapera liked what he saw with younger play makers like Kanye Bankston and Kyle Stegall running the football.

He also made mention of Chris Smith toting the ball well in the fullback position.

Encrapera also liked what he saw from lineman who were trying out positions on the opposite side of the line.

Hogan Benvenutti and Connor Moran both showed proficiency on the offensive line after spending the entire season last year on defense. Seth Cook also showed greater movement this spring.

Encrapera stated, "Now that we are passed spring drills, we are focused on our summer program where we are looking to get faster across the board with a new speed program. We will try to get involved in as many 7-on-7 opportunities as we can while we continue to lift to get stronger and bigger."

The Rocks open with a jamboree at home against Gulfport on August 16th followed by their season opener at home against Madison-St. Joseph on August 23rd.

The Rocks home season opener will mark the first time that SSC has opened their season at home since 2013 when the Rocks defeated Hancock 35-13.

Now that the final snap has been taken in spring football those of us that eagerly await the start of the gridiron season have only 86 days from today before the jamborees begin.

See you at the games!

O'Bannon & PRCC return to NJCAA World Series

BY JOSEPH W. GEX, II
STAFF WRITER

The Pearl River Community College Wildcats are making a return trip to the NJCAA World Series this weekend after their 11-2 rout of LSU-Eunice on Saturday in the Region XXIII championship game wearing their "championship gold" uniforms. The win gave the Wildcats a 40-12 record and the #1-seed in the NJCAA Division II World Series.

The last time the Wildcats advanced to the World Series was in 2002 under former head coach Jay Artigues who started the "championship gold" uniforms tradition.

The Wildcats wore the uniforms last year when they won the MACJC state championship and they made sure to pack them on the trip to Itawamba for the region tourney this past week.

To make things more interesting, former St. Stanislaus Rock-a-chaw All-State standout Magruder O'Bannon has been a key contributor to the Wildcats' success the past two seasons.

O'Bannon commented, "We could not be any happier. We are all looking forward to the trip to Enid, Oklahoma, and for the chance to represent our college and community."

The Wildcats faced tough competition last week at the Region XXIII tourney in Fulton with five of the top 10 teams in the country playing in the tournament. The then #6-Wildcats defeated #4-Jones 4-2, #9-Northwest 12-11 in 11 innings, #2-Itawamba 21-13 and #1-LSU-Eunice 11-2 to advance.

run, nine RBIs and scored 10 runs in 23 games this year.

When asked about the journey that he and the Wildcats have been on in 2019, O'Bannon stated, "We are expected to battle and compete. That goes back to the dedication of the coaching staff to get us prepared. To be one of the final 10 teams left standing is an honor itself. We have already played in an extremely tough regional tournament. Now, we just need to go and play one game at a time. That is our mindset."

PRCC head coach Michael Avalon played at Holmes Community College and played against Artigues' Wildcats in 2002. Avalon commented, "This is a goal that we set every year. However, after winning the state title last year we felt we could make the jump this year and we set our focus on it immediately. What this team has done that is most impressive to me is their ability to come together to support one another all year through the ups and downs. We have recruited the very best players from high school no matter what we had coming back. We asked them to understand that the guy next to them may be as talented as they are and to be a team first player. They have accepted that. That has been our real challenge all year since the state title. It has never been a question of how talented are we but can we put the team above all else."

Avalon talked about O'Bannon, "Magruder has become the consummate teammate. When we recruited him, we knew that he was a gifted student both in the classroom and the game. He changed his body last year at our request and became an integral player for us on our quest for the state title. He has continued that and become an inspirational teammate this year. His willingness to be that inspiration is what I am most proud of. It is that willingness to do what is asked of him that has made him able to compete. From the moment he stepped on campus, he has given exactly what we have asked from him."

Avalon recalled playing against the Artigues' teams from 2002 and how well prepared they were. He made that a goal for his squads when he began to coach to be prepared as a team for whatever may come. He witnessed that from Artigues' preparation and how his teams responded.

When Artigues was the coach at PRCC from 2002-05, he tallied a record of 168-51 and, until now, the school's only berth in the World Series. His 2004 team owns the school record for wins with 46.

Artigues, a former SSC standout, became PRCC's single season and career batting champion and later led the Wildcats to the program's first world Series berth and created championship tradition. Now, O'Bannon, a former SSC standout, has become an inspirational teammate on the top-ranked JUCO team in the country looking to etch its name in national lore.

O'Bannon ended, "This opportunity is a humbling one. We are very proud to be in a position to not only experience this but to represent our community, our state and ourselves. We very much want to make the area proud. We are focused on getting the job done and bring home the title."

The JUCO World Series runs from May 25-June 1 at David Allen Memorial Ballpark in Enid, Oklahoma.

With the overall #1-seed in the World Series, PRCC will earn a first round bye and not play until Sunday at 1p.m. against the winner of the #8-Pasco-Hernando State College (31-23) and 9-Lackawanna (32-15) game which will be played on Saturday at 10 a.m.

The area's presence will again be felt on a national stage. And, you can bet that an extra box full of "championship gold" uniforms will be with them and ready to shine on the biggest of stages.

Power Point Fishing

We've had some big groups out at the Cat Island House the last couple weeks. Our all inclusive overnight trips have been a lot of fun, the last several years. Corporate groups have certainly taken a liking to these trips.

The last trip myself and Capt Kenny were on last week, was a huge corporate group. They are from all over the nation. These face to face meetings are important for a business to run smoothly. Computers, phones and even ole snail mail can get things done, but nothing beats in person interaction. And that's where fishing and the outdoors can help your business. Our guides have seen more deals get made on the boats, and at the island house than we can count. Having meetings in our "offices" can be very productive. You don't have the hustle and bustle of the of a busy corporate office. The phones, computers and noise are never not there. You have your meeting in a relaxed, and beautiful setting.

I'm not saying to call in sick into work (but I will write you a note). I'm saying don't be afraid to grab a client, vendor, or customer to have an outdoor meeting. I guarantee your meeting(s) will be memorable, efficient, and productive. A pretty sunrise, good trout bite, or big triple tail seems to open up the lines of communication. Folks just seem to talk more openly and freely on a good fishing trip.

So I invite you business types to have your next meeting on the water. I assure it, it will be one that will be very successful. Heck, you'll likely make a new buddy, and hopefully get to take home some fish to eat.

As always, have fun and be safe.

SEA COAST ECHO

Fourth Sunday at Four is scheduled for Sunday, May 26. This week features music by Fr. Ron and Friends and the artwork of Donna Martin.

The music begins at 4 p.m. followed by art and reception at 5 p.m.

Christ Episcopal Church is located at 912 South Beach Blvd, Bay St. Louis.

4:00 PM – Performing Artists ~ Fr. Ron and Friends

Fr. Ron Clingenpeel is a versatile performer having played folk, rock, blues, jazz, Cajun, zydeco and funk. He returned to his folk roots several years ago as a way to honor the life and music of Pete Seeger, Woody Guthrie and other 20th century greats.

Seeger, Guthrie, Odetta, Leadbelly and many others, the Great American Folk Song Singalong celebrates the life of the American experience.

Now, in 2019, comes a new CD by Fr. Ron & Friends; original songs influenced by American folk music – On My Way Home, a tune about self realization; Marie Laveaux, the Voodoo Queen of New Orleans; Peregrinatio, a Celtic style chant; So Close a Heart, a love song, Alligator Purse, a playground jump rope lyric set to new music; Come Thou Font, a 19th century hymn to a new tune; Hard Living Man, recalling the style of the Sons of the Pioneers; and, Refugee, a reflection on the flight of those forced to leave home and hearth because of the wars of oth-

Organizing the Great American Folk Song Singalong, Fr. Ron brought together a group of talented musicians from other genres to give you a variety of voices and styles to this traditional American music.

The Great American Singalong gathered energy as many were reunited with these great songs and others were introduced to what some consider the heart of the American soul of the 20th century. Bringing together songs by

5:00 PM – Visual Artist ~ Fused Glass Artist Donna Cowart Martin

The way light dances across the surface of beautiful glass, its reactions with high temperatures and the love of design elements has establishes Martin's artistic visions of joy.

Living on the Mississippi Gulf Coast and Waveland in particular is a dream come true. Our community; with its estuaries, blueways and trails serve as a rich environment for artistic inspiration. Yet, one cannot leave out the heart and soul of the area through the historic rich environment of the Coastal people.

Glass is a magical world that draws you in with fluid colors and reactions that are only limited by my imagination and with the opening of the kiln door. When adding high temperatures from the glass kilns and color combinations the art of fused glass becomes exciting and resplendent like no other art. It is like opening a Surprise Treasure Box upon completion of each firing. While having an idea of what the outcome will be, it is not until the glass is totally cooled and retrieved that all of the questions are answered.

Donna Cowart Martin works out of Dragon Fire Studio located just steps from the beach. She has studied with renowned Glass Masters Richard LaLonde in his home studio on Whidbey Island, Washington, Donna Phillips Sarafis in her studio in Fayetteville, Texas, and she will study with Australian Native, Singapore residing glass artist Peter Kane during his Artist in Residence Teaching Tour in Dallas, Texas during the summer of 2019. She will work with layer forming, drop outs, and slumping in Asymmetrical forms for gallery quality works.

Donna holds a BA degree from Millsaps College with a dual major in Art and English, and MEd Mississippi College. She is a member of Hancock Arts where she heads up the exhibition galleries for emerging artists, a member of the Mississippi Craftmen's Guild, a juried artist; Echoes of Ohr—George Ohr Museum, "A River Runs Through It", Water-Water Exhibit at Walter Anderson. Hancock Arts, and Studio Waveland. Donna is married to Bob Martin who assists with making the original displays for her glass works in the Dragon Fire Studio. Her work can be seen at Art Alley in Pass Christian and Bay Life in Century Hall, Bay St. Louis.

"4th Sunday at 4" is Christ Episcopal Church's gift to the Coastal Community. As such, "4th Sunday at 4" is free and open to the public. Also, no artist, performing or visual, is charged a fee to participate, nor is any commission or percentage taken by the church. All money in the "donation basket" is given to the performers, and all payments for art go directly to the artist.

A church is seldom in a position to engage an entire community, but it can do its part by supporting one segment of a community.

PEOPLE WHO READ NEWSPAPERS AND PEOPLE WHO HAVE MONEY HAVE ONE THING IN COMMON.

Newspaper ads, both print and online, play a key role in helping people make their banking and investment decisions.

Newspapers and their sites outperform all other media in engaging people, including high-income adults, Boomers, Business Decision Makers and even Millennials

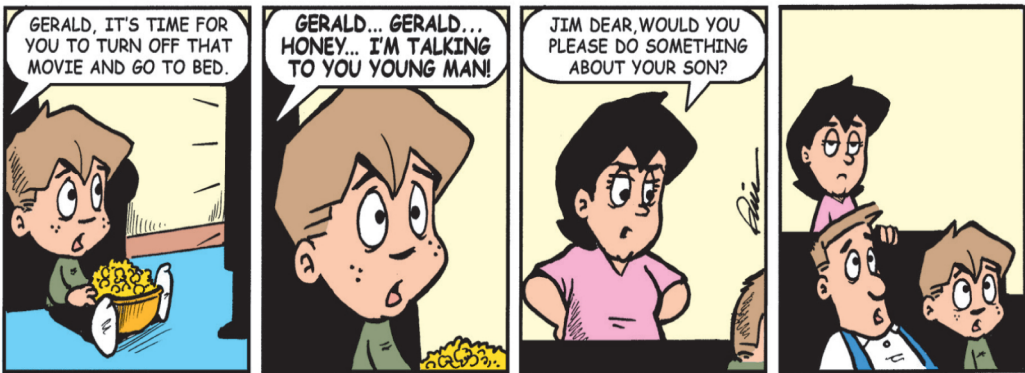

All of which makes advertising in newspapers a very smart move.
